Pennsylvania's Chuck Niederriter Completes Successful Term as National Chairman of ACPA

HARRISBURG – The American Concrete Pavement Association (ACPA) recognizes Chuck Niederriter, Chief Operating Officer of Golden Triangle Construction Company, for serving in 2018 as the 55th Chairman of the ACPA Board of Directors.

Niederriter is a 1982 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh. He has worked at Golden Triangle Construction since 1986 and since 2006 as their Chief Operating Officer. Niederriter previously served as Chairman of the ACPA Pennsylvania Chapter (ACPA/PA) and is currently Vice-Chairman on the Board of the Associated Pennsylvania Constructors.

Niederriter stated in his opening remarks as ACPA Chairman that “our clients expect our projects to last a generation. Unfortunately, the measure of success for our product is that often goes unnoticed for 50 years. As such, we need to celebrate our successes.” Under Niederriter’s leadership, ACPA began a new program called CONCRETE COMPETES. “This program takes a back to basics approach in providing technical, promotional, and organizational support to our local Chapter/State associations, while also emphasizing competition, longevity, quality, and engineering solutions to agencies and other stakeholders”.

As Niederriter completed his term as Chair, ACPA welcomed James W. Mack, P.E., Cemex (Houston), as its 56th Chairman. Mack previously worked for ACPA, the Portland Cement Association, and as the Executive Director of the ACPA Northeast Chapter.

About Golden Triangle Construction: Founded in 1952, Golden Triangle Construction Co., Inc. is headquartered in Imperial, Pa., near Pittsburgh. The company grew from doing curb and drainage work to its current role as a leading heavy/highway/utility construction company. Today, the company has 350 employees who work in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and in eastern Ohio.

About the ACPA: The ACPA is the national trade association for the concrete pavement industry. Its primary mission is to align its members, state pavement associations and partners for effective concrete pavement promotion, advocacy and technical support.
